CLIENT GUIDE · POST-PRODUCTION

GETTING STARTED WITH YOUR EDIT

How the edit runs, what we need from you, and how to give notes that keep things moving.

Thank you for bringing your project to DEPARTURZ. Everything you need is in one place below: how the edit runs from footage to final delivery, what we need from you, and how reviews work.

1. HOW THE EDIT RUNS

1. Sign and pay the deposit. Accept your agreement and pay the deposit in your DEPARTURZ portal.
2. Send your footage. Use the list in section 2. We check every file when it arrives and tell you right away if anything is missing or damaged.
3. Sample clip. A short, fully finished look at the opening, edited, colored and with graphics, so you can approve the look and pace before we cut the whole thing.
4. Rough cut. The full edit, with the story in place. You review it and send notes.
5. Fine cut. Your notes applied, with color, sound and graphics refined.
6. Final cut and delivery. Final exports in every format you need, plus social clips if they're in your package.

2. WHAT WE NEED FROM YOU

Footage and audio

- The original camera files, not compressed exports or files saved from social media
- All cameras and all audio, with separate recorder files if audio was recorded separately
- Folders organized by shoot day and camera, if you can
- Sent through the Check-in page in your portal, a shared Google Drive or Dropbox folder, or a drive shipped to us

Notes and direction

- What the piece is for, who it's for, and where it will live
- Must-have moments, with timecodes if you have them
- Anything to leave out
- Two or three edits you love, and what you love about each

Graphics and music

- Logos, fonts and brand colors

- Names and titles for on-screen lower thirds, spelled exactly as they should appear
- Music you'd like used, with a license for it. Popular songs usually need a license, and platforms can mute or claim videos without one. We can suggest royalty-free options.

Delivery specs

- Where it's going (TV, streaming, YouTube, Instagram, TikTok, an event screen)
- Formats and lengths, vertical or horizontal, and whether you need captions
- The deadline, and who approves the final cut

3. GIVING NOTES

- Review in the portal. Each draft lands in your Review room. Pause anywhere and leave a note pinned to that exact moment.
- One round, one set of notes. Gather everyone's notes into a single round. It's faster and avoids crossed wires.
- Be specific. "At 4:32, trim the pause before she answers" is easier to act on than "tighten it up."
- Timing. Please send notes within five business days of each draft so the schedule holds.
- Approvals lock a stage. Once you approve the sample, the look and pace are set; once you approve the rough cut, the structure is set. Changes after that are possible, as a change order.

4. FOOTAGE PROBLEMS

If supplied footage or audio has issues we didn't cause, like heavy noise, exposure problems or missing files, we'll show you what we found and estimate the cleanup time before doing anything. You decide whether we fix it.

5. HOW TO PAY

- In your portal: under Payments, pay by card, Apple Pay, Cash App Pay, PayPal or Venmo.
- By Zelle: send to 832-837-0772 (the name shows as Nathaniel Shoyinka) and put your invoice number in the memo.

Your invoice covers DEPARTURZ's work. Music licenses, stock footage and fonts are paid by you, as your agreement explains.

6. GOOD TO KNOW

- You own the final deliverables once they're paid in full. Project files and unused footage aren't included unless you add them.
- Download your files. We keep your project for the archive period in your agreement, then clear it, so save your own copies.
- Credit. If the work carries credits, we're listed as agreed.

Questions, big or small? Message us in your portal any time.